Protest Presence Of Nationalist Chinese Delegate

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 10.—(CP)—The Russian delegation today walked out of the United Nations Security Council in protest over presence of a Nationalist Chinese delegate.

Jakov Malik, Russian deputy foreign minister, led the Soviet group out of the council chamber after the council had voted to defer action on its formal demand that the Nationalist Chinese delegation be expelled.

Dr. Tsiang F. Tsiang, Nationalist Chinese president for January, ruled that the Soviet protest should be deferred as the council backed him by a vote of 8 to 2.

MADE AT OPENING

Jakov A. Malik made the demand at the opening of the first council meeting of 1950, which was to be devoted to a discussion on a world census of conventional armaments.

The Russian deputy foreign minister said his government backs the expedition demand sent to the UN today by the Chinese Communist government.

Five of the 11 countries on the council have broken with Tsiang's government and recognized the Chinese Reds. They are Russia, Britain, Yugoslavia, India and Norway.

Russian Claim

Before he left the chamber, Malik said it was "absolutely for the council to meet under the presidency of Tsiang who represents nobody at all."

"For these reasons," he said, "I must participate in the meeting with the representative of the Kuomintang (Nationalist China) is removed from the table. Therefore, I will leave the hall."

The other delegates ignored the walkout.

Malik refused to say when he might attend another council meeting.

Parachuting Tougher More Jumps Are Made

By Stanley Burke

Bulletin Staff Writer

Parachuting is different from almost any other job. It gets tougher with experience.

This morning I flew to Wainwright with 100 young Canadians of the PPCLI airborne regiment.

They all agree that the first parachute jump is the easy one—you don't know what to expect. After

In new recruits it all looks rather beautiful and simple, as you watch parachutists tumble out of their aircraft, watch their chutes blossom above them, and see them float gracefully to earth.

Take my word for it, it's not the same thing at all when you watch these young men standing with freezing wind whipping at their legs, waiting for the signal to plunge.

As we neared the dropping zone, where winter military exercises are underway, you could feel tension rising. A few minutes earlier the (Continued on Page 2)

Feb. 23 Seen Date Of U.K. Election

Early Official Announcement Of Polling Day Expected

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(CP)—Prime Minister Attlee told his cabinet Britain's big official secret Tuesday: the date of the general election.

Wednesday, he is expected to tell the country in on it. Word spread quickly that Feb. 23 is the most likely date.

For weeks this has been the date most favored by guessers for the clash at the polls between the Labor party, in office since 1945, and Winston Churchill's Conservatives can now be virtually ruled out.

Attlee's ministers left the 90-minute meeting at 10 Downing street smiling broadly.

Then the lobby correspondents—accredited political experts of the British press—were called into 10 Downing street for a briefing.

MAKES PREDICTIONS

The Press Association has been sent forwards made these predictions:

Attlee will announce his election plans Wednesday.

He will dissolve the present parliament Friday, Feb. 3, and voting will take place 20 days later.

A "snap" election at an earlier date can now be virtually ruled out.

The session of parliament scheduled for Jan. 24 will be cancelled. The present parliament will be dissolved without ever meeting again.

Attlee was believed to be framing his important announcement today—his wedding anniversary.

He was married 28 years ago and ever "celebrating" by an afternoon visit to the theatre with his wife.

TWO LEAVE MEET

Before Attlee ended the cabinet meeting at which he disclosed his election secrets to his colleagues, there were two significant early departures.

Viscount Jowitt, the labor chancellor, and home secretary Clutter Ede, who are both concerned with the constitutional arrangements, left hurriedly half an hour before the close.

Morgan Phillips, secretary of the Labor party, cancelled an engagement in Wales today for "urgent business which necessitates my presence in London."

Trend Is Indicated By First Addresses

Special to the Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—(BUP)—The Dominion-provincial conference gathered today smoothly today, but non-committal opening addresses by the Quebec and Ontario premiers indicated there would be lengthy bargaining before it closed.

Three provincial premiers rose in the lofty Commons chamber to summarize their views on the meeting after listening to an opening speech by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

Ontario Premier Leslie Frost spoke first, followed by Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis and Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia.

No untoward words were spoken and there was no surface clash.

Observers centred most of their interest on Duplessis' remarks. The Premier had been expected to figure in any possible storm at the conference over Dominion-Provincial rights.

DUPLESSIS PLAN

Duplessis suggested that any proposed constitutional changes should first receive unanimous agreement from the four original provinces of confederation—Quebec, Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

He reiterated his views on the matter and said there could be no compromise between Dominion and Provincial rights during the coalition.

In his opening address, Prime Minister St. Laurent had emphasized, with an eye to the anti-secessionist Quebec Premier, that it was not the federal government's intention at this conference to see some responsibilities normally in the hands of the provinces.

Duplessis said Quebec did not feel its rights on such things as the French language and separate schools were granted to it by the BNA Act. Rather, the act confirmed these rights, he said.

Duplessis spoke after Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario who endorsed Mr. St. Laurent's suggestion that there should be no dickering between himself and the provinces on division of constitutional authority.

Button, Button, Who's Got . . .

New Westminster, B.C. police and Patrick Ward are looking for a 'magician' today. Police quoted Pat that he was enjoying a noggan of rums in a beer parlor when along came a self-styled magician. "Keep your eyes on me," commanded the magician.

Pat did. The magician left shortly after, along with Pat's wallet containing $50. But Pat didn't know it until he went to his pocket to buy another noggan.

Some People Never Learn

That old saying about never trying to board a moving train still holds good. And a man who tried and succeeded near Prince Albert will be the first to admit the wisdom of the saying. The man missed the train at Prince Albert, hired a cab, overtook the train and leaped onto the vestibule steps. He pounded on the door. But no one noticed him. And for 15 miles he stayed there in 40 degree below zero weather. Finally he was spotted and taken in the train. His frothing was not too serious and the unidentified traveller continued his journey to Regina.

Mrs. Bertus H. Verkey of Phoenix, Arizona, was so angry about an unwanted husband who would up to hotel today. The 37-year-old woman didn't know her jealous husband loped off her flowing red tresses.

Verkey, 40, who said he had been married on Christmas Day, admitted he croppered her red hair from waist length to a crew cut. Saturday he was charged with assault with deadly weapons—razors and scissors.

A Soda Fountain Sundae was Banned in Pittsburgh, Mass., as a Fire Hazard

The concoction featured by a drug store, was known as the Flaming Nut Sundae. It consisted of half a pint of ice cream, one and a half ounces of hot fudge, one ounce of marshmallow, one ounce of sugar, nuts and three drops of lemon extract. The extract, 70 per cent alcohol, was set aside before serving.

The fire chief ruled the delicacy was a fire hazard to fat coats, sweaters and cotton dresses.

A new source of city revenue possibly yielding up to $500,000 annually was suggested by Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto today. He said the new source would be a hotel-room tax, all guests paying between 20 and 30 cents depending on the type of accommodation. This wouldn't do hotel-hungry Edmonton much good at the moment.

Vanity, Vanity

Premier Maurice Duplessis is blushing today. He's evidently not as well known in Ottawa as some people thought. A news reporter phoned an Ottawa hotel to find out if the premier had checked in for the Dominion provincial conference today. "Who," asked the operator, "Premier Duplessis." "How do you spell the name," the operator asked. The reporter told her, "Where's he from," she asked. The reporter hung up.

The child suffers from leukemia, a cancer-like disease in the blood stream. Doctors had predicted she would not see her Christmas and said she was living on "borrowed time."

Her father, J. H. Neumann, said that since she received injections of glycyline three weeks ago

Lorna had been able to leave her bed and play with her toys.

The treatment was used at the suggestion of Dr. T. H. Gordon, a local dentist. He said it was a local dentist, he said it was a local dentist, he said it was a local dentist.

Dr. P. L. Epp, the Neumann family physician, said he neither approved nor disapproved of the new treatment.

Antelope Herds Converge on City

Medicine Hat Sees Animals Driven by Cold in Food Hunt

Medicine Hat, Alta., Jan. 10.—(CP)—A herd of some 90 antelope came to Medicine Hat's door-step today in search of forage, driven 40 miles from their natural habitat by severe weather.

Thousands of antelope, pheasants and even coyotes are coming out of the British Block, the Sefton Experimental Station, Brooks, and the Cypress Hills to make-made settlements in their hunt for food.

Game wardens said today no special plans have been made to provide for the wild life. Hundreds of antelope and pheasants are reported around farm-holdings at Sefton, Sefton and Tully along the main highway from Medicine Hat to Brooks, in their search for relief. Some pheasants have died from starvation.

George Bray, Brooks game warden, said an extensive feeding program was not yet necessary.

IN THE CITY
"In a 24-hour inspection over the week-end, I counted 75 pheasants," said Mr. Bray today. "The supply of these birds is excellent and the few dead birds were killed, not by cold or want of food, but by starvation."

The game warden explained that during grating blizzards the pheasants inhale thousands of small particles of snow which freeze in their throats and stop their breathing.

Henry Dettelson, Medicine Hat game warden, said a food-corporation plan will be supplied by the government unless the situation here improves.

The herd of antelope which reached here today came from the British Block north of here, and are in search of food. The animals are within sight limits, grazing on wild shrubbery.

DETAILED STUDY
Premier Macdonald laid before the conference the most detailed study of the problem of amending procedure, and the most detailed formula for its solution to be submitted by a committee.

In brief, Macdonald's proposals were:

(1) No amendment on language, education, or minority rights without the unanimous consent of the provinces.

(2) Other amendments proposing amendments of powers of government to be ratified by seven out of ten provinces and to require something like a referendum in the two houses of parliament.

WANTS EXPLANATION
Macdonald indicated that Nova Scotia's program of the conference until the exact significance of the proposals was explained in a session to change the constitution on strictly federal matters.

He said the committee would allow the dominion to amend the constitution of Canada by a simple majority of the federal parliament could amend all sections except those relating to language, education and minority rights.

The conference cannot proceed until the prime minister answers any question," he said.

SAME AS TREATY
He suggested that when the draft had been approved, it should be signed by a treaty between the provinces and the federal government. The British parliament would be required to ratify the original BNA act.

There is a crying need to remedy our constitutional situation, and we must meet this need," he said. "I have no remedy found in the present situation except by amending or drafting a new constitution."

Premier D. Campbell of Manitoba said the constitution had remained virtually unchanged since 1867.

STAND TO DOOR
"Close up and stand to the door!" he said. "I won't go in until I see the green light flashed over the door."

The green light flashed over the door. "Green light—Go!" roared the speaker and the major tumbled headlong out the hatch. He was followed in rapid, tumbling, flustered succession by the remaining men of the stick.

In seven seconds the nine men of the stick were out. One more around and over the field and in another seven seconds the remaining stick was away.

Elderly Recluse Rests After Calgary Rescue

CALGARY, Jan. 10.—(CP)—Isabella Campbell, elderly recluse, is in hospital recovering from a frozen leg and malnutrition after being taken from her freezing cottage Monday afternoon by city police and relief department officials.

Campbell is believed to be about 60 years old. She is a former school teacher and has lived alone in the five-room cottage for many years.

Police entered the cottage through a window following a report from George Green, a milkman, who told police he had seen no signs of life at the house for two days.

Officers said the house was being heated with the help of the windows broken and the furnace unit. There was no stove in the house and the hot plate on which Miss Campbell had her cooking was not working.

Investigations showed that Miss Campbell, who has been a recluse for many years, has been fearful of her safety and had barricaded herself in her home. The front door was locked, had a chain on it and a piece of wood against it. The rear door was also locked.

Miss Kinsman said she "can't imagine" how the story ever leaked out.

"I told a New York columnist," she admitted. "But I told her it was a secret. What are those people trying to do to me? Why can't they let us get it settled and then write a nice story about it?"

"That's one scoop I'll give anyone," she was happy to say. "But I can't tell . . . not now."

Cat-Skinners Are Smiling Over Blue Ice

THE PAS, Man, Jan. 10.—(CP)—It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and Northern Manitoba's toughest cold spell in 10 years has brought delighted grins from the cat-skinners.

With the winter freighting season just begun, the men in snow goggles and greasy parkas who man the cat-skinners' trains from the end of steel to the outposts happily report "blue ice" on the lakes and rivers. That means safe, fast freighting from now until breakup.

SEASON ENDS
A mean temperature of 13 degrees below zero for the last three weeks has brought the end of the "in-between" season.

The in-between period was longer than usual this year, and freight has piled up against the beginning of the northern "twing." Many isolated outposts rely almost entirely on the cat-skinners for supplies and mail. Some dog teams and propeller-driven sleds have moved traffic and emergency supplies for the last month.

ON THE MOVE

Now, from Flin Flon, 100 miles south to The Pas and 200 miles north to Brochet, and from Churchill 500 miles west to Hudson Lake, where there's just United States Canadian Army Signal Station, the freighters will be on the move. Their fuel caches have already been established at scores of remote points along the route.

One big job this winter will be moving of 22 complete houses from Cold Lake, near Sisseton, to the Hudson Bay railway about 120 miles north of here. Portages and drifts are being widened and cleared to accommodate the heavy weight.

Stacking of mining operations is given as the reason for the exodus. They will be taken to Flin Flon.

Canada-U.S. Fit Defence

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—(CP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the United States together to fit strategic plans for North American defence into the broader picture of the defence of what amounts to western civilization.

The move represents a new chapter rather than a new book. The chiefs' meeting at Washington a week from tomorrow is the inaugural meeting of the U.S.-Canada regional planning group, one of five in the past organization, but it serves to underline two fundamental facts in cooperation between the North American neighbors.

Their group will have the advantage of years of discussions that already have brought into being detailed, long-range strategic plans for continental defence. Those past discussions did not involve the chiefs directly but senior officers they delegated.

MAJ. LARGER PLAN

The chiefs now enter the picture directly to fit the existing plans, largely geared to a continuing conflict, into the larger picture. What changes that will require, if any, of a substantial character, remain to be seen.

The joint permanent defense board, founded in wartime 1940 as the pioneer body in continental military cooperation, has been doing its work with as much success as it has with strategic planning, but with meeting problems that arise out of present cooperation.

That the new development indicates the more or less multiple objectives of the cooperation that has been going on quiet between Ottawa and Washington for years. The board, as a recent example, takes on jobs such as Canada's claims that U.S. troops should have civilian rights at Newfoundland military bases.

Miners throughout Britain are voting on the policy which asks restraint on wage increase claims for another 12 months.

Truman Budget Gets Cries For Economy

By RAYMOND LAHR
(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(UPI)—Congress greeted President Truman's budget with free-climate-for-economy today, but some members belied the cold war and an election year made a balanced budget printing but a dream.

In his annual budget message yesterday, Mr. Truman proposed $42,000,000 in spending, which would mean a $10,000,000 deficit at present tax rates, in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The chorus of criticism—some from within administration ranks—strengthened the already widespread belief that it would be more easier to make deep cuts in government spending than it was a year ago.

It's Cold Out There in Tents So Army Breakfasts in Bed

By GRAHAM TROTTER
WAINWRIGHT, Alta., Jan. 10.—(CP)—Snuffy Smith's Snow School is perhaps the most interesting and certainly the coldest part of winter training in this big Canadian army camp, 135 miles south-east of Edmonton.

It involves sleeping and living outside in a winterized army tent in three days of a 10-day period during sub-zero temperatures. About 160 men from all parts of Canada now are taking this training, the biggest single winter indoctrination class in Canadian army history.

TAKES OWN MEDICINE
Winter indoctrination training, commanded by Major Stuart Kenna-Smith of New Brunswick, is a necessary prep for all men participating in next month's joint Canadian-American winter manoeuvres along the Alaska highway.

Major Kenna-Smith has been too busy with administrative details to entirely indoctrinate himself. But last night, when the morning ski drill was cancelled, "Snuffy" took his first night sleeping out with his pupils. They range from private soldiers to colonels.

Five men make up one tent group. The chores rotate, with two men always on security duty at the same time and one man in charge of cooking for a day.

"We try to stress the building up of a tent group with its accompanying team spirit, instead of calling it training for survival," says the major. "If the men abide by the tent routine, they will survive in severe winter weather."

"We teach the men how to use their clothing and equipment under these conditions and, because each man has to be able to cook, we teach them that too."

BEST TO KEEP COOL
"They can sleep in their bunks in sleeping bags in 40-below-zero weather. They sleep on top of their clothes, the body warmth protecting the garments from the extreme cold."

"In the morning, only one man cooks for the day—in motion inside the tent until it is warmed up. He serves the others breakfast in their sleeping bags."

Major Kenna-Smith says the most difficult task in winter indoctrination training is to convince the men that "clothes don't provide heat, just insulate the body from the cold."

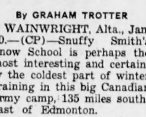

Behind this concentration is government policy to increase exports to the U.S. as a means of balancing trade with that country. The present trade deficit, in favor of the U.S., is about $400,000,000 a year.

Officials therefore are paying great deal of attention to the 1950 tariff laws and the list of goods on which these tariffs will be imposed is expected to be a long one. It is expected the list will be turned over to the U.S. government about Jan. 15.

Some time in April the U.S. government will publish the list in accordance with U.S. tariff law. Any manufacturer who believes the tariff may hurt his business may place his protests before the government proceeds with negotiations.

Without disclosing the names of officials, officials say the list deals mostly with processed or manufactured goods on which there still is a prohibitive U.S. tariff.

Pouso was the name given to British India centuries ago.

CCF Condemns CN For Traffic Cuts

Asks Immediate Investigation Into Efficiency of Company

By Reno Rinaldi
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Jan. 10.—(CP)—The National Council of the CCF yesterday lambasted out at the Canadian National Railways' cut in passenger service.

It demanded an immediate investigation "of a situation which justifies doubt regarding the motives and efficiency of the CNR administration."

The statement climaxed four days of meetings by the delegates of the CCF members of four provincial houses and party officials—whom speaker Pridmore.

Yesterday national leader M. J. Coldwell, in an address to the Winnipeg Canadian Club, said the government at the last session of parliament failed to face the vital problem of falling foreign markets.

Last night's statement said the council strongly condemns the action of the Canadian National Railways' in the 25-per-cent reduction in passenger service, which went into effect yesterday.

It charged the administration of the CNR "is guilty either of mismanagement or of an attempt to discredit an essentially publicly-owned utility."

The council also renewed what it termed the government's intention to drop the price support policy for agricultural products next August, and demanded that the agricultural price support act "be made permanent legislation."

It also advocated establishment of floor prices for eggs and potatoes and "appropriate action" on the floor prices on bacon.

The party's 1960 biennial convention will be held in Vancouver some time in July.

Laxity in Licences

Grave laxity in the motor car licensing system of Alberta was disclosed recently by J. T. Kalla, president of the Used Car Dealers' Association, who described this loose and unsatisfactory system as an "invitation to criminals."

These are the circumstances Mr. Kalla contends:

1. The motor vehicles branch does not check the owner's name or any of the details given for the licensed car. Not even the serial number is checked.
2. No proof of ownership, such as a bill of sale, is required of the licensee.
3. Twenty-five per cent of the cars in Alberta do not even carry the original licences issued them.

Now all this indicates a serious state of affairs particularly since recent events have revealed the existence of gigantic stolen car rings operating throughout Alberta.

With the circumstances as they are in Alberta, this province would provide a real field day for stolen car operators if they chose to move in a big way.

One would have thought, therefore, that Mr. Kalla's protest against this laxity would have elicited some corrective statement from the provincial department in charge of motor licences.

But R. C. Arthur, deputy provincial secretary, merely remarked:

"I am not entering into any controversy with Mr. Kalla or anyone else. Some provinces have a title of ownership law. Alberta does not."

This caustic and cynical reply does not promise much for Alberta in the way of amendment to its antiquated and dangerous licence system.

They Should Call Out the Streets

In deciding to ask council to instruct bus and street car drivers to call out the names of streets and avenues, the Edmonton Property Owners' Association has put into words what a large number of Edmonton people have been thinking for some time.

Visitors to the city are completely helpless when they have no way of knowing where they are on a bus or tram.

Even old-time residents sometimes become confused in familiar areas after nightfall particularly when bus windows are clouded with frost.

Edmonton is one of the few places of size in the world where public transportation drivers do not call out the names of streets and avenues.

Their failure to do so provokes much unfavorable comment among tourists and visitors.

The suggestion from the Association is a good one and council would confer a favor on Edmontonians and their guests by acting on it.

Mercy Death and the United Nations

Certain sentimental "progressive" groups in the United States are planning to ask the United Nations to include in the declaration of human rights a clause favoring "mercy death" for sick people at the hands of physicians.

This means that these groups are going to urge the organization set up to preserve civilization to become an agent of civilization's destruction.

The sanctity of human life within the exclusive giving of God and within His exclusive right to withdraw it is one of the primary bases of civilized society.

Without full recognition of that sanctity and that right, the laws against suicide and murder become meaningless. Cheapen human life and you begin to tear down the whole civilised structure.

This movement towards euthanasia, designed to lessen human suffering and to establish the sole purpose of life as happiness, is only another aspect of that humanism which has become the dominant force of this age. Only the shallow and irreligious will endorse it.

Nothing to Get Excited About

A monstrous howl of protest is beginning to go up over the shelling of the United States freighter Plying Arrow by a Chinese Nationalist warship off Shanghai.

Already the charge is beginning to fly about that this is Chiang Kai-Shek's answer to the American refusal to help him defend Formosa.

This, of course, is a ridiculous attitude because the Nationalists are merely invoking the well-known law of blockade against the United States. They previously knew very well the risk it ran.

According to international law, a belligerent power may declare a state of blockade with respect to an enemy port.

If the belligerent power is able to make that blockade effective, that is to say, if it is able to keep ships away from the blockaded port, the blockade is legal.

It becomes illegal the moment it is ineffective.

There is civil war in China as there was civil war in the United States during the past century. Both sides in the American civil war invoked the law of blockade. The Chinese have exactly the same right.

And so far as Plying Arrow is concerned, the Nationalist blockade of Shanghai was clearly effective. Therefore it is legal.

Therefore there is nothing at all to get excited about.

YOU GOT THROUGH SHOVELING OFF YOUR WALKS SO SOON I THINK YOU'LL HAVE TIME TO CLEAN OFF MRS. SLATER'S WALKS BEFORE YOU HAVE TO LEAVE FOR SCHOOL. IF YOU WOULD, YOU'D APPRECIATE IT. SURE SHE'D WOULD, YOU'RE NOT TO TAKE ANY MONEY FOR THE WORK

GOOD NEIGHBOR

Whether the half is pensions of $100 per month or half or double that sum makes little difference. What makes the difference is that the unions want this provided for the employer without any wage deduction and the cost is considerable.

If the unions can force their ideas at this time even to the point where they can get members to contribute, it will simply mean that the cost, running into millions, will be collected from the Canadian consumers.

But since consumers include everyone, it will mean that the general public will be paying for pensions and other social security benefits which would be provided for a small proportion of the citizens.

Everyone Pays For the Pensions

This means that the union policy, if carried out, would provide a few hundred thousand with social security at the expense of everyone.

Why should taxpayers have to contribute, through increased prices, to pensions for certain groups of people when they have no pensions themselves?

Why should civil servants, who already contribute to their own pensions, be required to contribute to the pension fund of the workers in the industrial community?

Why should a merchant, or a clerk, or any other citizen be forced to contribute to a pension fund for some other worker, when he receives no benefit?

Pensions For All Claimed Best Plan

Labor leaders across Canada seem determined to make Social Security the best plan for the 1950 policy. It has been pointed out that the demands for pensions and other social security benefits which were made last year were the beginning of a new series of pension drives.

Our federal and provincial governments are being asked to consider this carefully. In fact, every citizen should consider this carefully because it is a proposal that is deceptive in its extent.

What is happening is that, while the government and the public sit back, one group after another is making a drive for a pension, and each group is only looking after its own interests. The longer we all back, the more the thing is going to become.

If the government got busy and established a plan available to everyone, we could all contribute either directly or indirectly to a pension, so long as there is an equal basis.

Murder Confession Baffles Policemen

French Unable to Find Any Trace of Confessed Killing

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(CP)—French police are unable to track down any case which might correspond to the alleged slaying to which a Canadian army veteran from Windsor, Ont., "confessed" to Michigan police.

Armed Craig, 25, a former member of the Canadian mobile group formerly from Carleton Place, Ont., has been held by Michigan police since last Friday when he summoned police to a tavern in Pontiac, Mich., and told them of a wartime incident which he said had been preying on his mind.

Craig was said by Pontiac police to have confessed that he and an unidentified British soldier roamed and kidnapped a pretty French girl in October, 1944 along the road between Ghent and Diagee. Police said Craig showed them a faded snapshot of a girl he said was Jeanne Dussan of Lille, 20.

(At Detroit, U.S. immigration officials said investigation was completed and Craig would be returned to Canada in a week or so for illegal entry to the United States.)

NO TRACE
Police in Lille and Amiens said they have no 1944 slaying in their dossiers remembering the incident reported by Craig, and they have no murder victims named Dussan or anything similar. Meanwhile Craig was brought to Detroit today from nearby Pontiac, Mich., where he told police of his part in a 1944 slaying.

Craig was reported saying he and the unidentified British soldier clubbed the girl, stole about $100 in French money and left her for dead in the ditch.

Craig, whose mother lives at Carleton Place, Ont., near Ottawa, admitted spending some months in hospital overseas as a psychiatric patient. His mother reported he had suffered a nervous breakdown overseas and said "I'm afraid he is suffering from too active an imagination."

JAILED LAST MONTH
Officers said the two were jailed on armed robbery charges last month after Harris and his family identified them as the men who broke into their cabin some money and attempted to criminally assault Verlene.

The two were awaiting preliminary hearing when they tunneled out of county jail here Dec. 30, using a knife and a can opener.

The member of the trio picked up was Malcolm, Whit, 32, a brother of Skye-odd Wendell Whit, one of the two being sought.

The other man said at large was identified as Leon Turner, 26. Patrolmen said Malcolm Whit was in a drunken stupor when he was found. When he awoke last night he denied all knowledge of the slaying.

ALL-TIME RECORD
Rural Power Sales Up From Edmonton Plant

Edmonton power plant output during 1949 spiraled to a new all-time high, at 101 per cent more than 1948's record.

It rose from 188,690,200 kilowatt hours during 1948 to 267,431,300, an increase of 41.6 per cent.

Biggest percentage of the increase went to rural areas served by Calgary Power Ltd., which buys all surplus power generated at the city plant during the off-peak hours.

The company bought 80,000,600 kilowatt hours, compared with 32,117,000 during 1948.

Total said to the city's electric light department, transit system and pumping plant was 103,181,800 kWh. against 149,136,100 a year ago.

City consumption increased 15.1 per cent, to 20,100,000 kWh. Under an interchange agreement, it owed the city 87,105,500 kWh. at Dec. 31.

Fire Department Recruit Age Limit Up For Present

NEWS AGENCY SEES CONSISTORY AHEAD

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 10.—(BUP)—The Ari News Agency, usually well informed on Catholic church affairs, said today that Pope Pius would call a consistory to name new cardinals in February or March.

Worms of such a consistory have circulated for the last year. The belief persisted generally in church quarters that it would be held before the end of this 1960 Holy Year.

Violinist, 19, Delights Concert 'Back Home'

Most of the audience seemed only lukewarm at the Betty Jean Hagen violin concert at the Masonic Temple last night.

Her violinist Miss Hagen who got her musical start in Edmonton, and is now studying at the Royal Conservatory in Toronto, made a return visit to her old home town under auspices of the Women's Musical Club.

DESERVED PRAISE
She played her violin in the brilliant manner that has won her scores of festival awards and is making her famous across the Dominion.

Miss Hagen certainly deserved more than the three encores she got.

Displaying a technique that was amazing for a 19-year-old, she went through an arduous program that would make a veteran 20 years her senior break into perspiration.

Actually, that was probably the reason for the audience's inhibition; the program might have been chosen to display fewer fireworks.

SHOWED ARTISTRY
Amazing though her abilities are, Miss Hagen's program had several features which can be adversely commented upon: warmth in tone lacking, her technique, though brilliant, seemed enough for her to be able to play flawlessly pieces as difficult as "Wings and Song."

Even for encores, for instance, as when she played Mendelssohn's "Violin Concerto in D minor," she used the difficult flute arrangement.

Her program included Vivaldi's "Concerto in D minor," Bach's "Sarabande," Chopin's "No. 1 in D minor for violin alone," Arseny's "The Little Flute Song," Stravinsky's "Berceuse" from "L'Oiseau de feu" and "Dance Rusee." Ravel's "Valses Nobles et Sentimentales Nos. 4 and 5" and "Trigane," Debussy's "La Fille au Chevreuil de Lullu."

Cripps Envisions 'Second Helping' At New Meeting

LONDON, Jan. 10.—(CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps said yesterday that Britain's 1949 record is at least as good as, and probably better than, that of any other country in anything like similar circumstances.

The chancellor of the exchequer told a press conference in London that the country's financial position has been "basically strengthened" by the rapid rise in industrial production.

He said he hopes to arrange another conference with Canadian and United States finance ministers similar to last September's in Washington.

He paid tribute to the "enlightened and helpful policies pursued by our American and Canadian friends in seeking to solve the world's financial problems."

It was "just because" of meeting with such great value that I want to see another.

PORT HUENEME, Calif., Jan. 10.—(AP)—The United States navy announced that one of its ships leaves for the Gulf of Alaska today. Its mission will include "operational use of guided missiles under adverse conditions when launched from a mobile seaborne platform."

The ship, the U.S.S. Norton Sound, a converted seaplane tender carrying 500 officers and men, will have as its primary mission, however, the collection of research data on cosmic rays, the navy announcement said.

Cosmic-ray information will be sought with the aid of the "zero-booster" rocket, which reaches an altitude of 75 miles. The 26-foot rocket carries instruments to gather such data.

No other details were given on the plan to experiment with guided missiles.

U.K. Disappoints Chiang's Wife

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek—headed for Formosa to rejoin her husband—pledges that the Chinese Nationalist army will battle to the last bullet against the Communists.

Speaking over the NBC network, she said "for shame" to Britain and called it recognition of the Chinese Communist regime the act of a "moral weakness."

She said "Britain has betrayed the soul of a nation for a few pieces of silver. One day these pieces of silver will be used to buy the blood, sweat and tears on the battlefield of freedom."

The submarine was first used in the U.S. Civil War, by the Confederates, at Charleston, South Carolina.

Madame Kai-Shek Returns After U.S. Mission Fails

By CLAUDE COX
Exclusive to the Bulletin
NEW YORK, Jan. 30. — (UP)—Madame Chiang Kai-Shek leaves New York today on the first leg of a long trip to join her husband in exile on Formosa.

Madame Chiang leaves by Trans World Airlines for San Francisco today.

Her departure was to be without the fanfare of her arrival in November, 1948, when she crossed the Pacific in a United States Navy plane and flew from San Francisco to Washington, D.C., on President Truman's personal aircraft.

Her departure marked the end of a 12-month mission that failed. She came to the U.S. after delivering a radio speech beamed from Nanking to the U.S. urging "immediate and definite" aid for the Chinese government.

That was before the Communists had overrun the country and her husband had fled to exile.

STILL WAS FAITH

"Our faith in ultimate victory is as strong as it was in the beginning," she said then. "The Generalissimo and I, as long as there is a breath in us, are going to fight against this evil Communist threat."

Then came a brief visit to Washington, where Madame Chiang was enabled to see the capital and came to New York to live in retirement in the luxurious home of her brother-in-law, Dr. H. H. Kung. She refused requests for interviews and made no public statements until Sunday.

BACK TO HUSBAND

In her farewell address to the United States Sunday before beginning the journey to the Chinese Nationalist Government in exile on the island of Formosa, Madame Chiang said:

"With or without help we shall fight," she said. "We are not deterred. 'Billions of my countrymen are yet dedicated to the long fight. As long as breath remains in us and with faith in the Almighty, we shall continue the struggle.'"

Madame Chiang, one of the famous Song sisters and considered one of the world's most powerful and richest women, was returning to the side of her Generalissimo husband, who has relied heavily upon her advice and help since their marriage in 1927.

Funds allotted to buy wheat in United States.

But he and other E.C.A. officials said there was nothing illegal about the sale of some 30,000 tons of French wheat. Fitzgerald said E.C.A. does not intend to cut off all dollar aid to France because of the deal. However, the agency might be reluctant to provide further money to France for wheat purchases.

Fitzgerald said he believes the grain came from France's 1949 bumper wheat crop. E.C.A. had given France no funds to buy wheat since early July, when the 1948 crop was harvested.

"However, we take a dim view of the matter since the French do not notify us of their intention to make the deal and since there is a possibility that France may find it necessary to ask for more dollars later this year to buy grain before the 1950 harvest is in," he said.

Humors of the deal dropped up today in the Chicago grain trading pits. These trade reports said that France had been or soon would be cut off from Marshall-plan funds.

GOV'T LAWYER FACES SUIT FOR $50,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. — (AP) — A Negro woman filed suit in district court today charging a white woman government lawyer with alienating the affections of her Negro husband, and asking $50,000 damages.

Mrs. Olive J. Perry brought the action against Ruth Weyand, assistant general counsel handling supreme court litigation for the National Labor Relations Board. Mrs. Perry identified herself as the wife of Leslie S. Perry, legislative representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Trade Talk in East May Feature Wheat

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 30. — (CP) — Canadian delegates to the Commonwealth foreign ministers' conference are to hold trade talks with India and Ceylon before they return home.

The Indian trade talks will discuss questions of trade between the two countries and the possibility of an overall trade agreement.

The discussions with Ceylon will explore the possibility of trading Canadian wheat flour for coconut products.

The Canadian delegation to the Indo-Canadian talks, to start Jan. 32, will be headed by L. B. Pearson, the dominion's external affairs minister who now is attending the Commonwealth foreign ministers conference here.

Commerce Minister K. C. Neogy of India and officials of the commerce and external affairs ministries will represent India at the New Delhi talks.

Ceylon is anxious to discuss four purchases with both Canada and Australia. The possibility of Ceylon buying Canadian flour was first discussed after Australia raised the price of wheat following devaluation.

Almost all Ceylon's flour imports — she does not import wheat — have been coming from Australia. When Australia's wheat price was raised, with a corresponding increase in the price of flour, Ceylon protested to the international wheat council in London.

Changing her policy of buying flour from Australia and taking the price of the dollar storage. However, T. N. Bheasree, executive assistant to Canada's deputy minister, said in a recent interview in the Times of Ceylon that "dollar" should not present a problem to Ceylon because she has a favorable balance of trade with Canada."

THE HAGUE, Jan. 30. — (Reuters) — A N.A. and trust company will be formed here to aid Netherlands emigrants going to Canada. It was learned here today.

At the same time it was announced that the 1950-51 Canadian Pacific Steamship line will have a special trip to carry Netherlands emigrants to Canada.

Bacon Sale To U.S. Is Likely This Week

OTTAWA, Jan. 30. — (CP) — With the United Kingdom market declining, Canada has decided to allow her pork producers to ship bacon to the United States for the first time in a decade.

The industry likely will be told within a day or two that export permits will be made available for the shipment of surplus smoked or cured pork to the U.S. This includes bacon.

The permits, to be made available through the trade department, will not cover abnormally fresh pork, or whole pigs either in live or dressed form.

This change in policy to reopen the U.S. market for Canadian bacon follows the recent announcement that the U.K. will buy only 60,000 pounds of top-quality bacon from Canada this year.

Last year Canada sold the U.K. 140,000 pounds of Grade A Willamette at 26 cents a pound. The drop in price spared demands that the Federal government respect the U.S. market.

That market was closed early in the Second World War when the U.K. placed controls for the shipment of as much as 700,000 pounds of Canadian bacon in one year. The U.S. market had to be cut off to send every available pound of bacon to the U.K.

Both the U.S. and Canada erected barriers against the movement of pork products between the two countries.

Recently, the U.S. with a large surplus of standard-quality pork, has been trying to increase its market.

The United States was not one of the Allies in the First World War since there was no common agreement on the objects to be attained, and was instead called as "associate."

'Gift Grain' Sold By France to Holland

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. — (AP) — The Economic Cooperation Administration reported last night that France, which received millions of U.S. dollars last year to buy grain, recently sold $2,500,000 worth of wheat to Holland.

Dr. Arthur A. Fitzgerald, E.C.A.'s director of food and agriculture, confirmed the fact that the sale had been made and said the recovery agency takes a "dim view" of the transaction.

But he and other E.C.A. officials said there was nothing illegal about the sale of some 30,000 tons of French wheat. Fitzgerald said E.C.A. does not intend to cut off all dollar aid to France because of the deal. However, the agency might be reluctant to provide further money to France for wheat purchases.

Fitzgerald said he believes the grain came from France's 1949 bumper wheat crop. E.C.A. had given France no funds to buy wheat since early July, when the 1948 crop was harvested.

"However, we take a dim view of the matter since the French do not notify us of their intention to make the deal and since there is a possibility that France may find it necessary to ask for more dollars later this year to buy grain before the 1950 harvest is in," he said.

Humors of the deal dropped up today in the Chicago grain trading pits. These trade reports said that France had been or soon would be cut off from Marshall-plan funds.

Automatic Toll Board Job Starts

First automatic toll switchboard in Canada and one of the first in the world will be in operation by the Alberta Government Telephone system here by mid-summer.

The big job of installing the board in the local office is under way.

On the board is installed, long distance calls originating in Edmonton will reach destinations in other parts of Canada without being handled by the operator in the city.

For instance, an Edmonton subscriber calling a Calgary telephone number, gives the desired number in the Edmonton toll operator.

The operator then punches a keyboard with the Calgary prefix code and the Calgary number to be called.

Instantly the automatic board mechanism selects an Edmonton-Calgary line which is idle, and automatically routes the call directly to the Calgary subscriber's number.

Selection of an available line is made by the machine at the rate of 200 per second.

If all lines on one Calgary circuit are in use, the machine feeds lines on other circuits. It will re-check the first circuit and indicate to the operator approximately when a line will be free.

Incoming calls handled through the automatic board are routed directly from the originating point to the local subscriber, without being handled by the Edmonton operator.

INSTALLATION of automatic long distance toll board is underway at Edmonton telephone exchange. Working on intricate wiring under supervision of experts from England are Lawrence McNulty, Winnipeg; Bob Mooney and Tom Hollinshead, Edmonton; Siemens of London, England, is installing board for Alberta Government Telephones.

Estate Sale First Of Kind

The auction of the estate of the late Dr. and Mrs. Egerton Pope, the first of its kind to be held in Edmonton, was a complete success.

Auctioneer Arthur Clad said today.

Clad said that auctions of personal and household effects, including antique furniture and valuable china, are very rare in the city.

He revealed that high bids were received for pianos and groups of Dresden, Royal Doulton, Coalbrook and other valuable china.

One group of Dresden brought $115 while two other matched pieces brought $25.

Through a typographical error a microphone which sold for $50, was listed in a previous report as selling for $500.

Medical books published from 1908 to 1935 were sold for a reasonable price.

Some pieces of the older furniture, much of it with certain traditional and antique value, transacted well.

A Persian rug previously reported to have sold for $1,000, was actually sold for $475, said Mr. Clad.

Restrictive Tax Bylaw Is Proposed

New Regulations Ready For Review by Mid-Month

No more taxicab licenses will be issued in Edmonton until new restrictive bylaw City council last night accepted that recommendation from its bylaw committee by a 6-3 vote.

The council deleted from the committee's report the clause calling for removal of restrictions on the number of cab licenses.

SET UP STANDARDS The new bylaw, which City Solicitor Tom Gaudin said will be ready for the bylaws committee's next meeting Jan. 25, will be restrictive in effect. It will demand 24-hour service, minimum standards for premises, and other requirements before a license is issued.

Voting for deletion of the "numbers restriction" clause in the report were Ald. Hovett, Tanner, Ford, Hisset, Mitchell, and Mayor Peniston.

Opposed were Ald. Hawick, Clarke, Hanna and Lawson. The majority opposed to the bylaw, which the minority were for, stated immediately a policy of lifting the ban on numbers.

"If we use other cities as a guide—such as Seattle, with one cab to every 2,500 population—then we'll have to dispose of some of our present licenses," said Ald. Clarke.

With present conditions, one man is able to make as much as $250 a month for himself by renting a cab license for $25 a month from a second man holding four or five licenses, said Ald. Hovett.

"We must control that sort of thing, and stop racketeering," he said.

Ald. Tanner suggested that if taxis are such a lucrative business as Ald. Hovett's example indicated, some of the profits should go to drivers, who are said to be in danger of a pay decrease.

Things We Don't Like

Edmonton can do without: Airplanes that fly just three and one-half feet above your chimney. Cold streetcars. People who won't move to the back of the bus. Out-of-towners who promise to build big hotels and million-dollar auto courts and then do a fade-out. Homely women. Cold weather. Thrill train whistles in the night. Cold weather.

Law Firm at Lunch

Business of the Edmonton law firm of Smith, Clement, Parlee and Whittaker can go right ahead during lunch hour. I know this because I saw the whole firm dining together in the Mac cafeteria yesterday noon.

Wonder if Gordie Williamson has "learned" to sleep at nights yet?

How can Ollie Berggren look so cold in that nice beaver coat?

Chances are that Aid. Rupert Clark wishes he had choked when he made the suggestion at a recent city council meeting that a public relations committee be set up by council. Last night council "joked" him with the job of running the committee.

JOKE PURELY CO-INCIDENTAL

"What's holding up the 105 street bridge?" asked Ald. P. Armour Ford at last night's council meeting.

"The piece," replied Commissioner D. B. Menzie.

After the hilarity subsided, he explained that cold weather was delaying concrete pouring for the pier abutments, and that the bridge would not be open for several months.

Kiwanis Year Successful

A service club shouldn't have a lot of money in the bank "where it's no good to anyone," retorted president Alex Cunningham of Edmonton Kiwanis Club today at its annual meeting yesterday in the Macdonald hotel.

Mr. Cunningham said the year had been most successful for Edmonton Kiwanians despite rising costs of operation, and that finances are in a healthy state.

Club membership now stands at 110.

President-elect William Cronin said that even greater efforts to be of service would be put forth in 1950.

Boost Unlikely In City Tax Rate

Edmonton's 1950 spending on current account will be approximately $5,000,000 instead of $13,000,000 suggested in a Monday news story, Acting City Controller Fred Ockenden said today.

Figure on which the $13,000,000 estimate was based included probable expenditures for the five civic departments for current account, but was projected into consideration of current account spending, he said.

City council last night approved provisional expenditure of $12,500,000 to the end of April when the 1950 budget and tax rate are expected to be settled.

Of that total, $2,674,200 is earmarked for current general spending, and $1,300,000 for utilities expenditures.

Therefore, to arrive at a probable 1950 current account expenditure, the $2,674,200 should be multiplied by three, rather than by two, said Mr. Ockenden.

Last year the four-month total expenditure was $3,788,600.

"Some people may have been misled by that $13,000,000 estimate into thinking there will be a mill rate boost this year," said Mr. Ockenden.

"I think it's only fair to let them know that with a total estimated current account of about $8,000,000 compared with $7,800,000 last year, there is little likelihood of a mill rate increase."

Mr. Ockenden explained that with the increased assessment resulting from the 1949 building program of more than $40,000,000, coupled with the increased assessment on lands expected to be announced shortly by the city assessor, tax revenue will increase sufficiently to take care of the higher budget.

Bus Service To 64 Avenue Deferred A Year

Request for extension of bus service from 100 street and 70 avenue to 64 avenue was referred last night by city council, to its utilities committee.

Commissioner D. B. Menzie said ETS Superintendent Tom Ferris reports such extension is impossible with the present surplus.

"The area, which is not densely populated, has 15 minute service now, and the extra half mile would add it to 20 minutes."

Before another winter, said Mr. Menzie, action is contemplated.

Whole Family Shares Party Planning Work

Party time calls for family co-operation.

If the party is a dinner which the family will share, then let each one help.

Teen-agers and even younger children can serve the appetizers in the living room while the adults feel during the 5 or 10 minute haste when the dinner food is given the last late touches.

If the party is planned for a later hour than the usual family dinner hour, it often saves trouble to serve the children first.

Don't make the meal fun and do take time to sit with them.

This can be a footcoping period and it may prevent that nervous mental twist which comes to children who feel pushed aside by grown-ups.

So, giving a party should be fun for the hostess. It's the best family fun for her or it can't be a pleasure for the guests. Time spent in planning returns true reward.

A smart choice of foods, excellent cooking, and attractive informal service, need a graceful unobtrusive hostess in a home where harmony and happiness abound to make a party a good party.

Cutting Down Salt Makes Diet Effective

Use as little salt as possible with this diet. People who use salt as a matter of habit often consume more than they need.

Salt stimulates the appetite, and quite often causes the retention of water in the body tissues.

If you replace the vegetable food in their own juices, little salt will be needed.

The absence of butter which cooks usually done upon vegetables to make them tastier will not be noticed, if vegetables are steamed or pressure-cooked.
